Case Study: SED 2007

The Site Equipment Demonstration (SED) show is the annual three day national trade expo for the construction industry.

In 2007 the 19,700 visitors to the show were treated to four interactive zones, spread across the entire showground, where they could view demonstrations of earthmoving equipment, lifting gear, trucks and cranes. Additionally there was a marquee Pavilion where specialist equipment was displayed.

As well as looking after visitors with convenient car parking, a restaurant and a bar, SED took care of exhibitors. They were given the opportunity to use the Rockingham Building for their private meetings. The suites in the building also housed a show office and rest rooms for staff. To round off the event, SED hosted a "Fight Night" event in the Welcome Centre.

“We are excited to be coming back in 2008.”
